

OLIER GIVES NEW FACTS TO JEROME TO DOWN RIVALS

Ice Trust President Becomes District-Attorney's Assistant.

HIS HELP IS WELCOMED.

Spring Meeting of Independents to Be Used to Incriminate Them.

CONSPIRACY CHARGED.

Small Dealers Accused by Combine of Agreeing Upon Non-Competitive Prices.

That District-Attorney Jerome expects the Grand Jury to return indictments next week against several ice-dealers and by the time the indictments are returned by a high official in the Criminal Court Building, who told of the evidence the American Ice Company (the Ice Trust) has placed in the District-Attorney's hands.

While the investigation was originally aimed at the trust, the District-Attorney has taken the trust into his confidence and is hot on the trail of the "Ice Trust" who have been annoying the American Ice Company.

Wesley M. Oler, president of the Ice Trust, had placed in the hands of the District-Attorney information of a meeting said to have been held by the independent dealers early in the spring. The call for this meeting was sent out by two or three of the independents, and is said to have specified that the purpose of the gathering was to arrange a schedule of prices for this summer.

That Independent Meeting. According to the evidence placed with the Grand Jury, all of the independent dealers, with the exception of four, agreed to the schedule arranged at that meeting. The four refused to enter into any agreement to control prices, knowing it to be a conspiracy amenable to the penal code.

These four dealers have been subpoenaed to appear before the Grand Jury next Tuesday and they will be asked to tell what occurred at that meeting. The Ice Trust has informed the District-Attorney that soon after that meeting in the spring the price of ice was adjusted by the various independent companies and that figures throughout the summer show that they have been acting in unison.

District-Attorney Jerome was not at his office to-day, but from one of his assistants it was learned that there might be a question as to whether those who participated in the spring meeting of independents could be indicted, as it was said the meeting was a failure, and of the independents not being in it.

Case Up Again Tuesday. But this same Assistant District-Attorney said that Mr. Jerome believed that they would be indicted for criminal conspiracy and that it was believed the Grand Jury would take definite action, perhaps by Wednesday. There was no meeting of the Grand Jury to-day. Mr. Jerome said the Grand Jury would not convene until Monday and that Tuesday would be the first session of the jury for the consideration of the special jury.

THE SURE ROAD TO MARKET.

Advertising does not increase the value of things, but it finds the "best market" for them.

A particular sort of a horse is not any more valuable because it is offered for sale, through an advertisement, than it is sold to better advantage. The advertisement aids in finding the one person to whom the special thing advertised would be of most value, and no matter what the article is, a want ad. will usually find the "logical buyer," though it means a search of a whole city full.

14,783 wants in the World in the last 24 hours. MORE than in ANY OTHER NEW YORK PAPER.

MIDDIES HAZE AGAIN.

Dismissals Recommended from Annapolis Naval Academy.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—The Navy Department has just been informed by a report from the Naval Academy of the first violations of the so-called anti-hazing law of April 9, 1905.

The report gives the names of four or five midshipmen who are considered worthy of dismissal, and although their offense is in violation of the anti-hazing law, they are not charged with hazing.

The Great Employment Agency.

13,509

SITUATIONS

sought and offered in the World last week. 10,667 employers sought good men and women to fill positions, and 13,509 seekers after positions used The World's columns.

This great engine of publicity brings together supply and demand. If you want a position or seek an employee, use World Wants.

TUNNEL BLAST KILLS ONE AND STARTS PANIC

Men Underestimate the Strength of Charge in Hudson River Tube.

ONE INJURED MAY DIE.

Night Shift at York Street, Jersey City, Rush for the One Exit.

CONSPIRACY CHARGED.

Small Dealers Accused by Combine of Agreeing Upon Non-Competitive Prices.

That District-Attorney Jerome expects the Grand Jury to return indictments next week against several ice-dealers and by the time the indictments are returned by a high official in the Criminal Court Building, who told of the evidence the American Ice Company (the Ice Trust) has placed in the District-Attorney's hands.

While the investigation was originally aimed at the trust, the District-Attorney has taken the trust into his confidence and is hot on the trail of the "Ice Trust" who have been annoying the American Ice Company.

Wesley M. Oler, president of the Ice Trust, had placed in the hands of the District-Attorney information of a meeting said to have been held by the independent dealers early in the spring. The call for this meeting was sent out by two or three of the independents, and is said to have specified that the purpose of the gathering was to arrange a schedule of prices for this summer.

That Independent Meeting. According to the evidence placed with the Grand Jury, all of the independent dealers, with the exception of four, agreed to the schedule arranged at that meeting. The four refused to enter into any agreement to control prices, knowing it to be a conspiracy amenable to the penal code.

These four dealers have been subpoenaed to appear before the Grand Jury next Tuesday and they will be asked to tell what occurred at that meeting. The Ice Trust has informed the District-Attorney that soon after that meeting in the spring the price of ice was adjusted by the various independent companies and that figures throughout the summer show that they have been acting in unison.

District-Attorney Jerome was not at his office to-day, but from one of his assistants it was learned that there might be a question as to whether those who participated in the spring meeting of independents could be indicted, as it was said the meeting was a failure, and of the independents not being in it.

Case Up Again Tuesday. But this same Assistant District-Attorney said that Mr. Jerome believed that they would be indicted for criminal conspiracy and that it was believed the Grand Jury would take definite action, perhaps by Wednesday. There was no meeting of the Grand Jury to-day. Mr. Jerome said the Grand Jury would not convene until Monday and that Tuesday would be the first session of the jury for the consideration of the special jury.

THE SURE ROAD TO MARKET.

Advertising does not increase the value of things, but it finds the "best market" for them.

A particular sort of a horse is not any more valuable because it is offered for sale, through an advertisement, than it is sold to better advantage. The advertisement aids in finding the one person to whom the special thing advertised would be of most value, and no matter what the article is, a want ad. will usually find the "logical buyer," though it means a search of a whole city full.

14,783 wants in the World in the last 24 hours. MORE than in ANY OTHER NEW YORK PAPER.

MIDDIES HAZE AGAIN.

Dismissals Recommended from Annapolis Naval Academy.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—The Navy Department has just been informed by a report from the Naval Academy of the first violations of the so-called anti-hazing law of April 9, 1905.

The report gives the names of four or five midshipmen who are considered worthy of dismissal, and although their offense is in violation of the anti-hazing law, they are not charged with hazing.

The Great Employment Agency.

13,509

SITUATIONS

sought and offered in the World last week. 10,667 employers sought good men and women to fill positions, and 13,509 seekers after positions used The World's columns.

This great engine of publicity brings together supply and demand. If you want a position or seek an employee, use World Wants.

MURDER VICTIM AND SCENE OF THE CRIME.

52 1/2 Carmine Street

TWO THROWN BY RUNAWAY IN THE BRONX MAY DIE

Horses Take Fright at Train and Man and Boy Are Dashed to Roadway.

A two-horse wagon of the Ranken Delivery Company, of Kingsbridge road and Aqueduct avenue, was crossing the railroad bridge on Tremont avenue, between Webster and Washington avenues, in the Bronx, late last afternoon, when the team took fright at a passing New York, New Haven and Hartford train and ran away.

After going a block the driver, Joseph Walsh, twenty-two years old, of No. 321 Madison street, was thrown from the wagon and the horses, which were running at a gallop, overturned at the next instant.

The horses, two big bays, broke loose and ran a few hundred yards further before Charles Welch, a coalman's clerk, succeeded in stopping them.

He hurried them off to the hospital, where the driver, Walsh, was found with a skull and internal injuries. Besides bruises and cuts all over their bodies, Walsh and Walsh's wife, who had been riding in the wagon, were also injured.

When the party left the Coroner's office the latter rode downtown in his same automobile.

Recently Inherited Fortune.

The prisoner, who recently inherited a fortune from his father, lives in fashionable apartments at No. 321 West 42d street, and it was there that he was found by the Evening World reporter.

Brodie L. Duke Wins His Divorce Suit.

Justice Giegerich Grants Absolute Decree Freeing Tobacco Man from Alice Webb Duke.

Burdine L. Duke, of Durham, N. C., brother of James B. Duke, head of the Tobacco Trust, was today granted a final decree of absolute divorce by Justice Giegerich, in the Supreme Court, from Alice Webb Duke, whom he married in Dec. 1899.

WIDOW ACCUSED BY FANCE INCE USE RAW-RODE ATTEMPT LIFE OF GRAND DUKE

Mrs. Verrault Said to Have to Got $2,200 by Her Love Letters.

Sharpshooters Fire Volley At Nicholas During Review.

VICTIM'S COMPLAINT.

MacClellan Much Impressed by Riverside Mansion and Livered Butler.

CONSPIRACY CHARGED.

Small Dealers Accused by Combine of Agreeing Upon Non-Competitive Prices.

That District-Attorney Jerome expects the Grand Jury to return indictments next week against several ice-dealers and by the time the indictments are returned by a high official in the Criminal Court Building, who told of the evidence the American Ice Company (the Ice Trust) has placed in the District-Attorney's hands.

While the investigation was originally aimed at the trust, the District-Attorney has taken the trust into his confidence and is hot on the trail of the "Ice Trust" who have been annoying the American Ice Company.

Wesley M. Oler, president of the Ice Trust, had placed in the hands of the District-Attorney information of a meeting said to have been held by the independent dealers early in the spring. The call for this meeting was sent out by two or three of the independents, and is said to have specified that the purpose of the gathering was to arrange a schedule of prices for this summer.

That Independent Meeting. According to the evidence placed with the Grand Jury, all of the independent dealers, with the exception of four, agreed to the schedule arranged at that meeting. The four refused to enter into any agreement to control prices, knowing it to be a conspiracy amenable to the penal code.

These four dealers have been subpoenaed to appear before the Grand Jury next Tuesday and they will be asked to tell what occurred at that meeting. The Ice Trust has informed the District-Attorney that soon after that meeting in the spring the price of ice was adjusted by the various independent companies and that figures throughout the summer show that they have been acting in unison.

District-Attorney Jerome was not at his office to-day, but from one of his assistants it was learned that there might be a question as to whether those who participated in the spring meeting of independents could be indicted, as it was said the meeting was a failure, and of the independents not being in it.

Case Up Again Tuesday. But this same Assistant District-Attorney said that Mr. Jerome believed that they would be indicted for criminal conspiracy and that it was believed the Grand Jury would take definite action, perhaps by Wednesday. There was no meeting of the Grand Jury to-day. Mr. Jerome said the Grand Jury would not convene until Monday and that Tuesday would be the first session of the jury for the consideration of the special jury.

THE SURE ROAD TO MARKET.

Advertising does not increase the value of things, but it finds the "best market" for them.

A particular sort of a horse is not any more valuable because it is offered for sale, through an advertisement, than it is sold to better advantage. The advertisement aids in finding the one person to whom the special thing advertised would be of most value, and no matter what the article is, a want ad. will usually find the "logical buyer," though it means a search of a whole city full.

14,783 wants in the World in the last 24 hours. MORE than in ANY OTHER NEW YORK PAPER.

MIDDIES HAZE AGAIN.

Dismissals Recommended from Annapolis Naval Academy.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—The Navy Department has just been informed by a report from the Naval Academy of the first violations of the so-called anti-hazing law of April 9, 1905.

The report gives the names of four or five midshipmen who are considered worthy of dismissal, and although their offense is in violation of the anti-hazing law, they are not charged with hazing.

The Great Employment Agency.

13,509

SITUATIONS

sought and offered in the World last week. 10,667 employers sought good men and women to fill positions, and 13,509 seekers after positions used The World's columns.

This great engine of publicity brings together supply and demand. If you want a position or seek an employee, use World Wants.

STABS HIMSELF, THE LEAPS OFF SOUND STEAMER

Passengers on the Norwich Line Steamer City of Worcester, which Arrived in New York to-day from New London, three hours late, witnessed a thrilling attempt at suicide in the Sound off Bridgeport.

A young man who gave his name as J. Johnson, of East Douglas, Mass., stabbed himself three times in the breast and jumped from the upper deck of the boat as she was passing Bridgeport Light. He is believed to be Oscar Stromberg, employed at the American Axe and Tool Works, East Douglas.

ONE MAN UNDER ARREST.

Suspect Admits Knowing Victim Intimately, but Denies Guilt.

CONSPIRACY CHARGED.

Small Dealers Accused by Combine of Agreeing Upon Non-Competitive Prices.

That District-Attorney Jerome expects the Grand Jury to return indictments next week against several ice-dealers and by the time the indictments are returned by a high official in the Criminal Court Building, who told of the evidence the American Ice Company (the Ice Trust) has placed in the District-Attorney's hands.

While the investigation was originally aimed at the trust, the District-Attorney has taken the trust into his confidence and is hot on the trail of the "Ice Trust" who have been annoying the American Ice Company.

Wesley M. Oler, president of the Ice Trust, had placed in the hands of the District-Attorney information of a meeting said to have been held by the independent dealers early in the spring. The call for this meeting was sent out by two or three of the independents, and is said to have specified that the purpose of the gathering was to arrange a schedule of prices for this summer.

That Independent Meeting. According to the evidence placed with the Grand Jury, all of the independent dealers, with the exception of four, agreed to the schedule arranged at that meeting. The four refused to enter into any agreement to control prices, knowing it to be a conspiracy amenable to the penal code.

These four dealers have been subpoenaed to appear before the Grand Jury next Tuesday and they will be asked to tell what occurred at that meeting. The Ice Trust has informed the District-Attorney that soon after that meeting in the spring the price of ice was adjusted by the various independent companies and that figures throughout the summer show that they have been acting in unison.

District-Attorney Jerome was not at his office to-day, but from one of his assistants it was learned that there might be a question as to whether those who participated in the spring meeting of independents could be indicted, as it was said the meeting was a failure, and of the independents not being in it.

Case Up Again Tuesday. But this same Assistant District-Attorney said that Mr. Jerome believed that they would be indicted for criminal conspiracy and that it was believed the Grand Jury would take definite action, perhaps by Wednesday. There was no meeting of the Grand Jury to-day. Mr. Jerome said the Grand Jury would not convene until Monday and that Tuesday would be the first session of the jury for the consideration of the special jury.

THE SURE ROAD TO MARKET.

Advertising does not increase the value of things, but it finds the "best market" for them.

A particular sort of a horse is not any more valuable because it is offered for sale, through an advertisement, than it is sold to better advantage. The advertisement aids in finding the one person to whom the special thing advertised would be of most value, and no matter what the article is, a want ad. will usually find the "logical buyer," though it means a search of a whole city full.

14,783 wants in the World in the last 24 hours. MORE than in ANY OTHER NEW YORK PAPER.

MIDDIES HAZE AGAIN.

Dismissals Recommended from Annapolis Naval Academy.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—The Navy Department has just been informed by a report from the Naval Academy of the first violations of the so-called anti-hazing law of April 9, 1905.

The report gives the names of four or five midshipmen who are considered worthy of dismissal, and although their offense is in violation of the anti-hazing law, they are not charged with hazing.

The Great Employment Agency.

13,509

SITUATIONS

sought and offered in the World last week. 10,667 employers sought good men and women to fill positions, and 13,509 seekers after positions used The World's columns.

This great engine of publicity brings together supply and demand. If you want a position or seek an employee, use World Wants.

PRESIDENT'S YACHT OFF TO MEET ALICE

Sybil Will Take Longworths Bay for Visit.

The President's yacht, Sybil, went down the bay this afternoon to meet the American liner St. Paul at quarantine, and convey Representative and Mrs. Nicholas Longworth to the President's home at Sagamore Hill.

St. Paul was then on its way to the President's daughter and her husband would be at Sagamore Hill this evening.

Arrangements had been made at Oyster Bay for the landing of Mr. and Mrs. Longworth from the St. Paul at the J. West House pier. From there it is only a short walk or drive to Sagamore Hill.

When Mrs. Hennessey moved in she was accompanied by a handsome, recently groomed young man, who was known in the neighborhood as Mrs. Brown and was supposed to be Mrs. Hennessey's daughter. This is the woman whom MacClellan says he knew as Mrs. Hamilton. After a few weeks another woman, a beautiful blonde, was installed in the mansion. She was known in the neighborhood as Mrs. Keene. MacClellan asserts that a young man who passed as Mrs. Hennessey's son acted as butler when men called.

"Personal" Ad Caught Him.

James B. MacClellan had three grocery stores in Philadelphia. He is a thrifty man, and when he concluded to marry he looked around for a wife with money. A personal in a New York paper attracted his attention last May.

It set forth that "a young woman, engaged with liberal income and beautiful home," desired to meet an honorable business gentleman of standing. MacClellan thought he answered the description and, in accordance with instructions in the personal, set down and wrote a cautious letter to "Sincerity, No. 99 Broadway, New York."

A dapper letter, signed Mrs. Helen Hamilton, arrived the next day. It contained an invitation to MacClellan to come over. He bought a new suit of clothes, drew $50 out of the bank, had his shoes polished and came over.

No. 32 West Eighty-second street looked good to him, the uniformed butler awoke him. And when, after he had sized up the perfectly appointed reception room, he saw a vision of a woman in a low-cut evening gown and glistening with jewels sweep toward his vision he was afraid to move for fear he would wake up.

MacClellan Told All.

MacClellan doesn't know how she did it, but she found out at the first interview that he had three grocery stores, several bank accounts and a cordial disposition. Mrs. Hamilton told him she had been a widow three months, and an invalid, and that she was in need of a man to comfort and guide her. She was a spoiled, selfish, and vain woman, and she was trying to get her out of her property, and she needed the comfort of a man.

MacClellan told her his three grocery stores, that he was a thrifty man, and that he was a widower. He told her that he was a widower, and that he was a thrifty man, and that he was a widower.

MacClellan told her that he was a widower, and that he was a thrifty man, and that he was a widower. He told her that he was a widower, and that he was a thrifty man, and that he was a widower.

MacClellan told her that he was a widower, and that he was a thrifty man, and that he was a widower. He told her that he was a widower, and that he was a thrifty man, and that he was a widower.

MacClellan told her that he was a widower, and that he was a thrifty man, and that he was a widower. He told her that he was a widower, and that he was a thrifty man, and that he was a widower.

MacClellan told her that he was a widower, and that he was a thrifty man, and that he was a widower. He told her that he was a widower, and that he was a thrifty man, and that he was a widower.

WOMAN VICTIM DEAD, OWNER OF AUTO HELD

Charge Against Stewart Elliot Now Changed to Homicide.

Stewart Elliot, owner and driver of a Panhard racing car which caused the death of Mrs. Lena Nobles, of Baltimore, and painfully injured Policeman Smith and Miss J. Johnson, of the Gerard Hotel, at Jerome and Burdette avenues, appeared before Coroner McDonald at his office in the Bronx to-day. He had been fixed at $5,000, and having no bondsman with him the office gave him until Monday afternoon to furnish security.

At the Gerard Hotel it was declared another man had gone out with the automobile party. His identity is veiled in secrecy, but the Coroner is endeavoring to find him.

The mystery as to the identity of the two women was cleared by Elliot, who at first said they were Mrs. Howard and Miss Evans. When taken to the Highbridge police station he admitted the dead woman was Mrs. Nobles and that her companion was Miss Johnson.

The first-named victim comes from a prominent family on the eastern shore of Maryland. Her father was T. A. Mowbray, of Harlock, Dorchester County. She leaves a husband—a traveling salesman—who, it was said, is on his way to New York with the dead woman's mother and sister.

A Stranger to Elliot.

It is not thought he was acquainted with Elliot and perhaps would never have heard his wife was automobile racing with him at 2 o'clock in the morning were it not for the fatal accident.

Elliot and his lawyer, Edward Gavagan, of No. 52 William street, were driven to the Coroner's office by Rancick C. Diamond in his automobile. When the young man said he had not secured a bondsman the official asked him if he would like to have Attorney Murphy go bail.

"I don't need any bail," was the answer. "I'll get some friend."

After the Coroner allowed Elliot until Monday he said he was intent with him because he was a friend of a friend of his, an old college mate.

Elliot said he had known Miss Johnson some time. Recently she had visited Baltimore, but returned Monday. Thursday night she called there to see the telephone and said she was with a woman who would like to have him meet her at the hotel.

He went out automatically. He declined absolutely to give the name of the person necessary.

When the party left the Coroner's office the latter rode downtown in his same automobile.

Recently Inherited Fortune.

The prisoner, who recently inherited a fortune from his father, lives in fashionable apartments at No. 321 West 42d street, and it was there that he was found by the Evening World reporter.

Brodie L. Duke Wins His Divorce Suit.

Justice Giegerich Grants Absolute Decree Freeing Tobacco Man from Alice Webb Duke.